AUTUMN PLEASANT AT THE BLUE RIDGE

Bowls the Popular Pastime Now at This Beautiful Resort.

WHIST IS STILL POPULAR

BLUE RIDGE SPRINGS, VA., Sep-

BLUE RIDGE EPRINGS, VA., September 21.—The advent of autumn brings no "melancholy days" to the Blue Ridge colony, which is active and happy, in perfect environment and the enjoyment of ideal days.

Reinforcements came to the family during the week by the closing of the Yellow Sulphur Springs, which brought a party of fifteen, who were unwilling to return t their homes in the city with a temperature too high to be comfertable.

With the cool, crisp days bowling parties are the popular pastine, and many of these are given. Mrs. W. H. Robertson, of Washington, whose husband has been appointed to a Swedish consulate, is one of the most successful bowlers, and on a score of 200, made in seven boxes, recently won a two-pound box of Huyler's chocolates, the prize offered by the generous host of Eluc Ridge for the highest score riade by a liedy. Mrs. Reversen, Mrs. "ugh and Mrs. White gave a bowling party on Tuesday, which was quite an elaborate affair. Mrs. Thaddeus Clark, of Washington, D. C., was the lucky winner of the beautiful prize, an "engagement book". In decorated leather cover. Refreshing drinks and bonbons were served, and a merry morning was enjoyed.

Bridge whist still holds its supremacy with the card players, and every morning and evening finds the devotees gathered around the tables with a "dummy," Colonel Spaight, of Texas, is faithful to duplicate whist, and Mrs. McAlister, of New York, the accomplished whist champlon of the Whist League, is in great demand as a partner, as she is conversant with all the fine points.

Dr. Gildersleeve, of Richmond, is one of the valuable accessions to the social circle that the week has brought. The doctor has retired from the active practice of his profession, and is enjoying a well-earned rest, and is genial and agreable.

Mrs. Southgate Taylor, Mrs. C. C. Cobb, Mrs. A. M. Hawkins, Liss Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. Garland Peed and Mrs. Carter is a charming addition to the circle of young folk who still linger here.

Mrs. Legh Page, Miss Page, Mrs. Form the capital city,

Carter is a charming addition to the circle of young folk who still linger here.

Mrs. Legh Page, Miss Page, Mrs. Hoen and Master Hoen are guests here from the capital city, and they will not return to Richmond until the end of the month.

Mrs. Emerson, of Savannah, Ga., and Mr. J. A. Pugh and Mr. William S. White, of Norfolk, recently joined their families here, and these young "benedicts" have been having a delightful time with bowls, mountain climbing and other vacation joys.

The register shows the following arrivals: E. L. Bill, Bristol, Tenn.; O. B. Roney, Norfolk, Va.; H. C. Christian, Charlotte, N. C.; Miss Edith Jamison, Roancke, Va.; W. G. Coperthwaite, Roancke, Va.; W. G. Coperthwaite, Roancke, Va.; W. Johns, Lynchburg, Va.; J. A. Pugh, Norfolk, Va.; Dr. B. A. Rice, Forest, Va.; C. W. Hutcherson Roancke Va.; L. J. Harrison and wife, Lynchburg, Va.; W. L. Northern, Norfolk, Va.; William S. White, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. J. T. Carter and Miss Bessle Carter, of D. Ville, Va.; Mrs. A. M. Hawkins, Miss E. Woodward, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. C. C. Cobb, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. C. C. Cobb, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. C. F. Keller, Pulaski, Va.; Dr. J., R. Gldersleeve, Richmond, Va.; Garland Peed, Norfolk, Va.; J. R. CHASING REYNARD AT MECKLENBURG

Miss Smink, of Reading, Pa., Secures Brush by Good Riding.

CHASE CITY, VA., September 21.—
One cannot say that the "melancholy days are come" at The Mecklenburg. The cool September weather, the glory of the autumnal days, and the pleasures of the hunt, bowling parties, bridge, dancing, riding, driving, and many other attractions, combine to make this one or the happiest months of the year. Guests are coming in on every train, and the register shows a goodly array of names.

Saturday morning one of the most exciting hunts of the season took place. After an early breakfast the hunters started in pursuit of Sir Reynard. An exciting race followed, and soon "Br'er

After an early breakfast the hunters started in pursuit of Sir Reynard. An exciting race followed, and soon "Br'er Fox" was run to earth. Miss Smink, of Reading, Pa., by her superb riding, securing the brush. In the meantime the second fox had been started, and excitement ran high. Among the hunters were Mr. F. C. Smink and Miss Smink, of Reading, Pa.; Mr. H. C. Beyille, California; Mr. Lorraine Anderson, United States Navy; Mr. T. E. Roberts, Virginia; Mr. Cooley, Virginia; Colonel Hughes, The Mecklenburg.

Mr. M. L. T. Davis, Jr., of Norfolk, gaye a most enjoyable bowling party ginia; Colonel Hughes, The Mecklenburg.

Mr. M. L. T. Davis, Jr., of Norfolk, ggve a most enjoyable bowling party to the young ladies of the hotel Thursday morning. The lady's prize, a silver jewelry statifd, was captured by Miss St. John, of Mobile; Mr. Houston, of Chase City, securing the gentleman's prize, a silver button box. The chapterons were Mrs. Whitaker, Mrs. Walton, Mrs. Cooke and Mrs. Hughes, of The Mecklenburg. Delighful refreshments were served, and all goted Mr. Davis a charming host.

A tacky party for the children afforded much amusement on Thursday evening. Mary Whitaker, Raleigh, secured the girl's prize, as "Samantha at Jamestown," and Warren Davis, Norfolk, as a bootblack, secured the boy's prize. Miraheau Hughes, newsboy: Wille Paxton, "Lovey Mary"; Will Hughes, Jr., "cowboy"; Melissa Cobb, Norfolk, "little cointry girl'; Marian Barrett, Portsmouth, as a "small boy," and Bernice and Mildred Cobb, as "country school girls," are worthy of mention. The children entered into the spirit of the evening, and the dance afterward, in which the older people isined, ended one of the most enjoyable days of the week. The prizes were presented by Mr. Pollock Burgwyn in a happy and appropriate speech.

The orchestra gave a concect on Friday evening, which was thoroughly enjoyed. The planist, a Norweglan, possesing a rich baritone voice, delighted the guests with several songs, charmingly rendered.

The many friends of Miss Mary Carter Anderson, of Richmond, regret that she is no longer connected with the Mecklenburg, her bright personality heing missed by all who knew her. On Friday evening, which was thoroughly enjoyed, complimentary to Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Walton, Mrs. Whitaker and Mrs. Cooke, of The Mecklenburg, A large quimber of guests were present, and all spent a most delightfuls evening, although the thought that the charming honess was so son to leave tinged the sevening with sadness.

"My! How You Have Grown in This Short Time,"

Remarked an old patron of ours who had been out of the city for several years. She pictured our small store as she remembered it ten years ago. There are reasons for this wonderful growth. Yes, several reasons; so many, in fact, that we cannot begin to tell of them. Perhaps the most important are "treatment of patrons" and "values." The great consideration accorded patrons in this store is often commented on by thousands of women, and the economy opportunities offered make this the logical supply centre.

New Undermuslins and Fall Corsets

Styles were never more elaborate, and laces and embroideries more beautiful, than on the new French and Domestic Muslin Underwear, ready to-morrow for your inspection and approval. There is an intrinsic value and a beauty in them that defies description. The corset makers have done their share in providing new styles, so that your Fall suit may be exactly adjusted over a satisfactory and excellent fitting corset. The tendency is towards extreme high bust and long back. Another development is the Ring Waist-it takes the place of a dip effect. The new effect is a waist line in which the front and back are at the same level-Ring shape. Our fashionable fitting models please the most exact. Among the high- grade makes to select from are the Sapphire, Bon Ton, C. B., Smart Set, Nemo and Royal Worcester Corsets. Prices from $1.00 to $18.00. All Corsets are fitted free of charge by experts.
